

When a Person Relocates: What Advocates Need to Know

When: Monday, March 10 from 1:00-2:00 PM

Where: At your desk

Tess Meuer will lead this important discussion about legal issues that must be considered when a person relocates.

This is a conference call only ? not a webinar.

See Details (below) for more information or to register.

Join Tess Meuer, Director of Justice Systems, for an overview of five issues for survivors who have children and want to relocate: 1. Safety and economic issues; 2. Overview of federal and state laws that impact relocation; 3. Possible criminal provisions if a victim relocates; 4. Family law concerns ? what will happen to the child(ren)? Which court has jurisdiction to make this decision? 5. Should she/he file a restraining order?and if so, before or after deciding to relocate?

This is a conference call only ? not a webinar. Participants will receive a link to advance reading materials when they register. These materials will be discussed during the conference call. Participants will receive a link to additional resources when they complete the post-conference call evaluation.

This webinar is part of a series for staff of domestic violence programs. On the second Monday of each month, End Abuse Legal staff Tess Meuer or Morgan Young will highlight a current legal issue or trend for advocates around the state. Time will be reserved at the end of the hour for participants to ask questions about the current topic--or any legal topic--of concern to victim advocates. These sessions will be either a webinar or a conference call.
